Carlos Miguel Prieto, conductor

The Maxine and Benjamin Swalin Chair

Carlos Miguel Prieto became Music Director of the North Carolina Symphony on July 1, 2023, at the beginning of the 2023/24 season. He first appeared with the Symphony as guest conductor in 2011 and was named Artistic Advisor in 2021.

Carlos Miguel Prieto was born into a musical family of Spanish and French descent in Mexico City and is the foremost Mexican conductor of his generation. He served from 2006 to 2023 as Music Director of the Louisiana Philharmonic Orchestra, where he is now Conductor Laureate. He was Music Director of the Orquesta Sinfónica Nacional de México from 2007 to 2022, and in 2008 he was appointed Music Director of the Orquesta Sinfónica de Minería, which performs a series of summer programs in Mexico City.

Prieto is in great demand as a guest conductor with orchestras including The Cleveland Orchestra, Minnesota Orchestra, National Symphony Orchestra, Dallas Symphony Orchestra, Toronto Symphony Orchestra, and New World Symphony, and has enjoyed a particularly close and successful relationship with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. In 2023 he made his BBC Proms debut at the Royal Albert Hall with the National Youth Orchestra of Great Britain.

Since 2002, alongside Gustavo Dudamel, Prieto has conducted the Youth Orchestra of the Americas (YOA). He served as Principal Conductor of the YOA from its inception until 2011, when he was appointed Music Director. He has also worked regularly with the National Youth Orchestra of Great Britain and the NYO2 in New York.

Prieto has conducted over 100 world premieres of works by Mexican and American composers, many of which were commissioned by him. Among his many recordings, his rendition of the Rachmaninoff Piano Concerto No. 2 & Études-tableaux Op. 33, with Boris Giltburg and the Royal Scottish National Orchestra, won a 2018 Opus Klassik award and was listed as a Gramophone Critics' Choice for 2017. His recording of Korngold's Violin Concerto with Philippe Quint and the Orquesta Sinfónica de Minería received two Grammy nominations.

Carlos Miguel Prieto was recognized by Musical America as the 2019 Conductor of the Year. A graduate of Princeton and Harvard universities, Prieto studied conducting with Jorge Mester, Enrique Diemecke, Charles Bruck, and Michael Jinbo.

Overture to The Abduction from the Seraglio, K. 384

WOLFGANG AMADEUS MOZART (1756-1791)

THE STORY

As a newcomer to Vienna, the Salzburg-born Mozart was eager to establish himself, especially in the world of opera. Mozart had arrived at a particularly auspicious time, as Emperor Joseph II had recently founded a company devoted to commissions and performances of Singspiel: “sung plays” in which dialogue is interspersed with music. The Abduction from the Seraglio was premiered by the company in 1782.

Taking place in the Ottoman Empire, the plot focuses on two pairs of lovers. The noble Konstanze and her maid, Blonde, have been abducted by pirates and sold to the Pasha Selim (Pasha denotes a high-ranking military title). The ladies’ fiancés, Belmonte and his servant Pedrillo, come to the rescue but are thwarted by the palace caretaker, Osmin—but in an act of magnanimity, the Pasha releases them.

The setting and subject of Mozart’s Singspiel reflects the tension between West and East: the Habsburg and Ottoman Empires had long been at war with each other. The popularity of The Abduction from the Seraglio portended well for Mozart’s professional life in Vienna. There he also composed his Symphony No. 40, which the North Carolina Symphony will perform in November.

LISTEN FOR

- The stylized version of a Janissary band (an Ottoman military band): piccolo, triangle, tambourine, cymbals, and bass drum
- The form of the overture, with the energetic Janissary band followed by a more solemn section led by the violins and oboes, concluding with a return to the rousing opening music

INSTRUMENTATION

Piccolo, flute, two oboes, two clarinets, two bassoons, two horns, two trumpets, timpani, percussion, strings

Symphony No. 2 in D Major, Op. 36

LUDWIG VAN BEETHOVEN (1770-1827)

THE STORY

Composed on the cusp of Beethoven's "heroic" period (1802-15), his Second Symphony foreshadows important developments for which he would become famous. It is experimental and grand, with elongated proportions, rhythmic verve, and exaggerated contrasts in dynamics, harmony, and orchestration.

In the body of the first movement, large outbursts by the entire orchestra continually threaten to destabilize more lyrical moments in the woodwinds or the forward momentum of rhythmically driving passages. After the dramatic abundance of the first movement, the pastoral Larghetto suggests the pleasure that Beethoven found in his long walks in nature.

The third movement marks the first time Beethoven uses the title "Scherzo" instead of the traditional "minuet." The fourth movement offers a playful figure in the woodwinds counterbalanced by murmuring strings, singing lines in the oboe and bassoon, and belligerent tutti punctuations. A dramatic pause marks the beginning of the extended coda, in which the wagging figure that began the movement returns innocently but then builds to a raucous recapitulation of the thematic material taken at breakneck speed.

LISTEN FOR

- The ambivalence between the warmth and darkness of major and minor keys in the slow introduction to the first movement
- In the Scherzo, the rising scales in the violins—continually interrupted by the full orchestra
- The finale's cheeky beginning with an upward flick in the woodwinds, followed by a tumbling gesture in the entire orchestra, which then dissipates into scuttling figures in the strings

INSTRUMENTATION

Two flutes, two oboes, two clarinets, two bassoons, two horns, two trumpets, timpani, strings

Symphony No. 4 in A Major, Op. 90, "Italian"

FELIX MENDELSSOHN (1809-1847)

THE STORY

From 1829-31, Mendelssohn undertook a tour of Europe, during which he spent 1830-31 in Italy. He was impressed by the Italian scenery, committing his impressions to watercolors and sketches as well as beginning his Fourth Symphony. In 1831, he wrote to his sister Fanny: "The Italian symphony is making great progress. It will be the jolliest piece I have ever done, especially the last movement."

The Symphony captures the mood and atmosphere of the land and the people. Mendelssohn fondly called the composition a "blue sky in A major." He continued revising the work after its 1833 premiere in London, but passed away before completing revisions. The composition was never performed in the composer's native Germany during his lifetime and was only published in 1851, four years after his death.

LISTEN FOR

- The joyful theme of the first movement, identifiable by the repeated skipping figure introduced by the violins to the accompaniment of bubbling woodwinds, before the whole orchestra joins in the merriment
- The solemn melody of the second movement led by the oboe, bassoon, and strings, and accompanied by a walking bassline
- A flute duet in the finale that is passed on to the violins and drives the movement Mendelssohn called a "sartarello" (after an Italian folk dance that involves fast hops); the flute duet makes one last appearance before the orchestra ends with a fierce flourish

INSTRUMENTATION

Two flutes, two oboes, two clarinets, two bassoons, four horns, two trumpets, timpani, strings
